

Writing

"Communicating skills as global problem"

Dear reader,

Thank you for your attention on our website. Today we speak about ways in which students can make contact with English-language speakers all around the world and ways which students can improve their communicating skills in English.

The first, English is the most important language in whole world. It is a global language. A lot of people speak English well. Every student study this language at school. Besides, our world has a many different languages, for example, Russian, French, Chinese and other. People choose their language for studying themselves.

The second, the ways students can improve their communicating skills of English are listening to music, reading books and watching films.

In the end, with languages you are at home anywhere.

2-2-2-2-1

198

